GOOD BYE TO PAPER EXAMS

In the learning environment, progress has been a little slow. As we move towards a more digital world, let us be your guide to transforming your institution from paper to digital.

How ready is your institution for eLearning?

Let's find out!

Q: Does your institution have a system to manage student academic records?

A: If the answer is YES then you are one step away from integrating your eLearning application with your student records system. This allows for smooth automation of grade delivery and eliminates the need for paper based assignments, quizzes and exams.

Q: Does your institution currently adopt an eLearning solution?

A: If NO, we are here to assist. Let us assist with adopting and managing your eLearning application. If YES then I employ you to reach out to us on what we can assist with – managed support services.

“Learning exists outside the traditional classroom...”

In today's eLearning environment, adoption rate determines the current usage level of your product. Let us work with you to ensure you get the most out of your eLearning application.

As we move towards a more digital world, institutions for learning should be ensuring our children are being prepared to compete in today's technological driven world. Thus, one of the driver's behind Ei's philosophy is to eliminate the need for paper based assignment\quizzes and exams for an online eLearning solution; being able to utilize a PC, create a word document and interact with web applications is key to the success of today's learner.
